

PRIVATE PARK

The park in S*Park (aka spark) is a response to the ideal contemporary lifestyle in Denver Colorado 2018. Instead of taking this space for asphalt alleys, trash cans, and cars, we have activated this space for the residents of S*Park and the natural systems of the block. The park at S*Park is free of cars but full of living breathing plants, trees, rain gardens, birds, and humans of all ages. The park is the outdoor living room, children's play area, sun deck, and community hot spot for the residents of S*Park. The park also serves as a bio filtration zone for the projects visible storm water management, utilizing rainwater to hydrate the landscape and lessen the demand on the City of Denver's infrastructure, a win-win for the residents.

Birdhouses

Aloft, above the park are an array of birdhouses intended to house various regional bird species, supply night lighting in the park, and give the park a whimsical art piece of varying size, shape, and coloration. You may recognize some of the bird house forms as classic Curtis Park homes, contemporary geometric forms, or a rainbow ring of migratory bird residences.

Outdoor Dining

Proximal to the urban gardens at S*Park is an outdoor kitchen, allowing the residents to entertain, cook, and dine outside. Several grills and large entertaining community tables are set in place to make for easy outdoor living.

Urban Farm

Health, beauty, education, and stress management are all positive side effects of having a garden just outside your door. The community gardens at S*Park give the residents an amenity that just keeps giving. We have taken it as far as to provide for wintertime greenery by supplying S*Park with a lofted greenhouse holding down the southwest corner of the project.

Teepee swings

Porch swings and gyrating seats are hung from triangular structures throughout the park. Locations and orientations give the swinger a specific view of the City, an urban garden, or a grouping of trees.
